About 6.00 o'clock Sunday morning, fire was discovered in cotton on the platform at the Muennink gin. Mr. Will Muennink, to whom the cotton belonged, thinks it possible that the fire originated by being baled in one of the bales, burning outward, communicating to the other bales. He had his hands somewhat burned by shoving the bales from the platform. He estimates his loss at approximately $25.

We had a sample of rain Monday morning—15 of an inch according to Judge Haass' rain gauge. The sample was all right and whenever the weather man concludes to give us about three inches of the same kind he will call down the blessings of all our people on his head.

The balance of trade was decidedly in Hondo's favor the past week, fifteen carloads being forwarded from the depot against two carloads received, as follows: Outbound, 11 cars of corn, 1 of guano, 2 of hay and one of live stock; inbound, 2 cars of salt.

WITH THE DRILLERS

With the coming of the glad Spring time, renewed activity among oil men is becoming evident. Perhaps the most significant of recent activities is the spudding in Thursday of last week of a new well on survey No.
808 on the John Bohmfalk ranch.
This undertaking is being sponsored by Fritz Fuchs, an experienced oil man, the man who discovered the Thrall field. He has large interests in several Texas fields and has absolute confidence in the existence of an oil pool in this section and is backing his judgment with his means.
This new well had reached a depth of approximately 200 feet up to Tuesday morning, and it was claimed by those of authority in such matters, that the formations found in the Somerset Field were identical with those encountered in this new well.
Our people have confidence in Mr.
Fuchs and believe he will bring in a paying proposition.

The well on the Jungman tract has settled down to a five barrel producer at 1044 feet, and the promoters of this enterprise are so sanguine that the Chicon section is going to develop into a paying field that another deeper test well is a matter of but a short time. When it is remembered that the first wells in the great Somerset field averaged far below this Chicon well, and that too, at much greater depths. The possibilities of this new field is calculated to excite the interests of oil men.

The Ina Co. has finished a difficult fishing job, and now have a clear hole. The drill in this well dropped into a gas pocket last Friday and dirt was thrown above the top of the derrick. This well is on the George Schmidt ranch on the Hondo, and is drilling below 600 feet with prospects said to be very flattering.

The deep test on Survey No. 7, a few miles of Devine on what is geologically known as High Point Structure, is drilling below 300 feet. This will be the first deep test in this county and the downward progress of the drill will be watched with increasing interest.

A new proposition and one which has not heretofore been mentioned, is drilling on the A. M. Christilles ranch on the Francisco. This well has reached the 600 foot level and it is reported that it is now producing about 2 1/2 barrels of oil daily—an oil of excellent grade. It is confidently predicted that the golden fluid in much greater quantities will be encountered as the drill goes down.

Another new well, also on the Kreisle ranch on the Francisco has been spudded in, but we are not informed as to the depth reached, or the oil possibilities found.

And still another well, located near Dunlay has been spudded in, but the drill in this enterprise has not yet reached the oil sand—has just started—but its downward progress will be watched with interest by those in the oil game.

And still another well, this time in the western part of the county will share in the interest of our people.

This well is located on the Saathoff ranch, about six miles south of D'Hanis. Geologists have reported favorably on its location and the promoters feel confident of a new strike when the drill reaches a proper depth.

The spudding in of these new wells show an increasing belief in the existence of an oil pool in this section and their efforts to uncover it will hold the breathless attention for the coming months. Those who are inclined to complain at the delay in proving or disproving the existence of oil in this section, should bear in mind that none of the great oil fields have ever been brought in until after years of exploitation.
This is wild cat territory as yet and we must depend on wild caters for our first developments. No big oil companies will ever come in until the field has been proven. It is a well known fact that one of the greatest companies in the state drilled numerous dry holes before making a strike, and were on the ragged edge when they made their first lucky strike.
It now estimates its wealth by millions. It does not take men of weak purpose or poverty in purse to operate in wild cat territory. Encourage the men who are now operating in this field, and we believe some of our people who are now having trouble steering clear of the rocks will find themselves in affluent circumstances before the close of the present year.

BARN BURNED

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn of Rev. J. T. Horger, together with the greater part of its contents, about 3.45 o'clock last Sunday morning. The barn was a one and a half story structure and according to the judgment of Rev. Horger, the fire originated in the upper and back end, where according to his recollection nothing was stored. Pistol shots and the persistent blowing of the whistle of the locomotive of the passing Jitney aroused the firemen and citizens who hurried to the rescue, but the fire had made such headway that it was plain the barn was doomed, and they directed their efforts to saving adjacent property in which they were remarkably successful. In fact, the firemen were given much praise for the excellence of their work. Some of the outhouses near the barn were ignited, but were promptly extinguished by the fire fighters.

Rev. Horger estimates his loss at between $350 and $500 with no insurance.

This fire emphasizes the urgent need of some new means of giving an alarm when fire threatens. Since the changing of the ice plant from a coal to an oil burning equipment, there is now no means of arousing the people in case of a fire. This matter should secure prompt attention.

[Two for One]
DOCTOR'S OPINION—WET WASH IS SANITARY.

In this department you can have 20 pounds of family laundry work, washed with practically all the water extracted from same, just about damp enough to be ironed, for the price of ONE DOLLAR and ten cents. You can't possibly get this work done in any other way for the same price. Damp wash is solving a burden in many a home. All clothes weighed dry.

It's a saving in wood, soap, starch, blueing, tubs, pots, pins, meals, rain, smoke, fires, sickness and many other things you don't stop to consider.

Phone us we can do it. We don't claim to be perfect, but we do claim not to charge for work that is not perfect. Take it to Jennings.

MRS. ALBERT PICHOT.

Mrs. Albert Pichot, brief mention of whose death was made in the last issue of this paper, was born Sep-

Texas, January 18, 1923, at 6.00 of 56 years, 4 months and two days.

She was buried at Uvalde, Friday, January 19, by the side of her son, Earnest, who died there March 16, 1920. Rev. Andrews of the Baptist church at that place conducted the funeral services.

The deceased was married June 19, 1882, to Mr. Albert Pichot who, with eleven living children, survive her.
The children are: Four daughters, monds of Uvalde, Mrs. Frank Schweers and Mrs. Robert Koch of Hondo, and seven sons, Adolph and Louis Pichot of Hondo, Joe and John Pichot of San Antonio, Willie and Leonard of Houston and Jim Pichot of Uvalde. She is also survived by her aged father, B. T. Dawson, of Beaumont; six sisters, Mrs. Sam of Austin, Mrs. Will Daniels, of Dallas, Mrs. John Booth, of Oklahoma, Mrs. Will Burnett, of Houston and Mrs. J. E. Burnett of California; and one brother, George Dawson, of Beaumont. She is also survived by fifteen grand-children.

Mr. and Mrs. Pichot lived for years on their farm a few miles northwest of Hondo, where most of their boys and girls grew to manhood and womanhood. They have many friends among the readers of this paper who will mourn the untimely departure of this good woman and sympathize sincerely with the bereaved husband.

Everything Points to the Greatest Spring Demand for Ford Products in Company's History

1,202,517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922--

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company.

It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed—keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealers' requirements--

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery dates on certain types because there are no reserve stocks to draw from-- Commercial users, business houses and farmers, anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay--

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed--

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately--

We have given you these facts as they actually ex-

H. C. TEVEBAUGH

For several weeks H. C. Tevebaugh has been in a very critical condition and at no time was recovery expected after an attack of cerebral hemorrhage which occurred some six weeks ago. Just as his condition improved a serious complication set in, his children were summoned to his bedside.
He was delirious most of the time until the last day or two when lucid moments passed away entirely and owing to serious throat and mouth trouble he was unable to take nourishment, and at about 7 p. m. Friday he sank into slumber.

He leaves a wife and three daughters and one son: Mrs. J. W. Bras-hler, Abilene, Texas, Mrs. M. Clark, Uvalde, Texas, Mrs. M. C. Davenport, Uvalde, Texas, Mrs. W. C. Beal and Mrs. W. G. Muter, Del Rio, and Henry Tevebaugh, Denver, Colo., besides numerous grand-children.

He was very active for a man of his age, being 77 years, 2 months and 11 days old at the time of his death. A good citizen, kindly disposed and though entertaining peculiar ideas along the line of political economy he was in no way offensive in his views, but rather attracted consideration.

The funeral took place at 3.00 p. m., Saturday; Dr. J. T. King of the Baptist Church officiating, preaching a very touching sermon at the grave.
The pall bearers were: Will Greenwood, B. E. Johnson, R. E. Potter, J. R. Daniels, E. C. Thumm and Aug.
Bato.

To the family of deceased we extend our deepest sympathy.

Prudence

In Georgia they tell of a country minister, the Reverend Tyler Bliss, who was driving a spirited horse through a village when he overtook the local physician, who happened to be on foot, and invited him in for a lift.

Ten minutes later the horse bolted, tipped over the carriage and spilled both men. The doctor rose to his feet and felt himself over to see whether he was injured. Then he turned angrily toward the clergyman.

"See here," he demanded. "What do you mean by inviting me to ride behind an animal like that?"

"Well," replied the minister mildly, "it was lucky that this time there were no bones broken. But I always like to have a doctor with me when I drive that horse."—American Legion Weekly.

ADAM AND EVE ATE APPLES.

How many apples did Adam and Eve eat?

Some say Eve 8 and Adam 2—a total of 10 only.

Now we figure the thing differently: Eve 8 and Adam 8, also—total 16.

We think the above figures are entirely wrong.

If Eve 8 and Adam 82, certainly the total will be 90.

Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the ante-diluvians were a race of giants, reason something like this: Eve 81 and Adam 82—total 163.

Wrong again. What would be clearer than if Eve 81 and Adam 812 the total was 893?

I believe the following to be the true solution: Eve 814 Adam and Adam 8124 Eve—8938.

Still another calculation is as follows: If Eve 814 Adam, Adam 81242 oblige Eve—total 82,056.— Exchange.

WONDERFUL WEATHER PRE- DICTIONS AMAZE THOUSANDS.

About forty years ago the Rev. Irl R. Hicks discovered and worked out for practical use an exact science in weather forecasting. This science is based on the equinoxes of the earth and the planets, the movements of the moon and planetary conjunctions.
Annually for thirty-five years weather predictions based on this science have been given to several hundred thousand readers through the medium of the Hicks Almanac, now known as the St. Louis Weather Book.

All the great hurricanes, torna-does, cyclones and general weather conditions during the past twenty-five years were predicted to the exact date, a year in advance. Thousands write us yearly testifying to the value of the predictions in this Almanac and several hundred thousands plan their work and business activity by it each year.

You will want a copy of this Almanac for 1923. It has more than 168 pages, and is fully illustrated.

Send 45 cents to The Lincoln Press, Publishers, 3403 Franklin Ave., St. Louis, Mo., and they will send you a copy parcel post paid.

Send $1.00 to Fletcher's Farming and ask for a copy of the Almanac and it will be sent you free.

the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

The wide, wide world has become so narrowed by science that news builders, master men and leading women everywhere and particularly in the United States. No other newspaper is better equipped to give the news of the world at the time it is news than The New York World.

The Thrice-a-Week edition of The World is the greatest example of comprehensive journalism in America. It will keep you as thoroughly informed as a daily, which would cost five or six times as much. It is a unique newspaper, published three times a week, for $1 a year.
This is the regular subscription price and it pays for 156 newspapers.

We offer this unequalled news-

A Wish

"I HAVE TAKEN Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla.
"Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of Cardui and her condition was much better.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work." This card fulfils her wish.

Hardships of War.

Private Pink, U. S. A., had an argumentative turn of mind that gained him little popularity with his officers. Every order had to be thoroughly discussed before he would consent to it. One morning, after reporting back from sick call, he came to the company orderly room and asked to see the captain.

"Cap'n, sir," said Pink, with obvious emotion in his voice. "The doctor tells me I got an ingrown toenail and that it'll hafta be cut out. Do I got to have it cut out, sir?"

"Of course, if the doctor says so," was the short reply of the captain, who was accustomed to interviews with Pink and wasn't disposed to humor him. Pink hesitated momentarily to gain control of his emotions, and then said complainingly:

"A poor damn soldier has to stand for most anything, don't he, cap'n?"

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Hondo people.

Mrs. X. Wantz, Hondo, says: "My kidneys were disordered for some time. A dull, bearing down pain appeared in my back which greatly increased until I had to give up. I couldn't stoop or straighten without severe pain. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised at Martin's Drug Store. From the start Doan's did me good and I gladly recommend them to others." (Statement given May 29, 1915.)

On May 3, 1919, Mrs. Wantz said:
"I think just as much of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I gave my former statement. The cure Doan's worked then has proven permanent." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wantz had. Foster-Mil-

DEVINE NEWSLETS.

From The Devine News.
COTTON AND SORGHUM
GREEN AND GROWING

A drive of several miles into the country this week showed cotton stalks green to the top, on western slopes, and sorghum sprouting out green from the last year's stubbles. Up to this writing, Jan. 20, there had not been a real freeze this winter. Thin ice has formed in exposed places on two or three mornings, but we dare say that half of our people have not seen any ice this winter. One farmer said to The News man Friday, that he would have to graze his old stalks down, or cut them down with a stalk cutter, as he aimed to cultivate them this year. We will probably have some real winter yet; possibly before this is in print, it may be here.

NEW TELEPHONE LINE BEING BUILT NORTH

A new rural telephone line is being erected from Devine to the Huegele and Poerner neighborhood north from town. There will be five new phones on this line we are informed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meyer of Dun-lay, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Beyer, and Miss Ruth, of Milwaukee, Wis., were pleasant callers at The News office, Thursday. Mrs. Beyer and daughter are spending some time with relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wernette of D'Hanis visited relatives at Moore Sunday.

G. C. Morris transacted business in Austin Friday and looked in on the workings of the Legislature, of which he was a member last term.
He found Mr. Durham, our present member of the House, busy with matters which affected Medina County schools.

WILLIS-OVERLAND SHIPPED 57 CARLOADS TO COAST

The Willis-Overland Company, at Toledo, inaugurated its new year of increased activity by shipping on January 5, 57 carloads of motor cars to the Pacific Coast.

Thirty-five of these cars were billed to Los Angeles and 22 were billed to San Francisco. The entire shipment comprised 101 model 91 Over-lands, 10 model 91 roadsters, 19 model 91 coupes, 60 model 91 sedans and 10 commercial chassis. There were also 21 model 64 Willis-Knight touring cars, three model 64 coupes, two model 64 sedans, 15 model 64 coupe-sedans and 10 model 67 sedans.

True to prediction the new year is evincing the fact that the demand for automotive transportation promises to be unique in the history of the automobile industry.

THE UNWORTHY

By AGNES BROGAN

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Stephen Reynolds leaning back in his chair, smiled lazily. The pretty women gathered in his mother's drawing room were listening intently to the tale of his wanderings. That Stephen had arrived as an artist there was no doubt, and adulation followed in his wake.

"Tell us," begged the brunette, "where you found those quaint goose girl sort of pictures, Stephen, only your goose girl is a tender of sheep. I am quite carried away by the soft green of the hillside where her white charges gambol and by the sweet pensiveness of the girl's face. Is there such a person as 'Minna of the Hills,' Stephen, and who is she?"

The artist laughed, then his fine eyes grew reminiscent.

"Yes," he answered slowly.

"Minna lives, and her hillside is as green as it is painted. The place is isolated, unfrequented mountain country. But though Minna was persuaded to pose for me, with her pet lambs, she is not always rustically inclined.

"Down the slope lies the humble cottage where the girl lives with her grandparents, simple old souls, too trustful quite to exist outside the pages of books, and so have they reared the orphaned darling of their hearts.

"My meeting with Minna was accidental. In search of sketches I rode the hills, coming upon her in one of her restful hours. The old people later were persuaded to give me supper. Persuaded is not the word; hospitality is part of their code. But this girl, she was a wonder to me—a marvel, a surprise. She had read much valuable reading, yet she could laugh at one with a merry, almost mocking assurance.

"She could dance in the moonlight across the fields, an untaught thing, as graceful as a faun."

"Ah, then," interrupted Stephen's sister, "you did go again to see Minna and at moonlight?"

The admired man joined in the accompanying laughter.

"Why yes," he admitted, "many times."

Mrs. Reynolds, her shrewd, dark eyes troubled, came toward her son.

"Stephen," she began, "when you spoke of that sheep-tending girl there was a look on your face—I can't describe it. But Stephen, surely you had no interest in that simple creature. You will not go back to the hills, Stephen?"

"I am not—going back," the son answered decidedly, and turned aside.

It was Jane who sought him out later in the evening.

"Steve," she said abruptly, "I am afraid you are in for trouble. Your wild bird has flown here on your trail. She's in our library this minute, waiting to see you."

For a moment the artist stared incredulously, then, without reply, left the room. Minna was in the library.

"Is it proper—I do not know," asked Minna, "for me to slip down from my chair to say 'how do you do?' Or, do you come to me?"

"I come to you," answered Stephen, absently. He was crossing the room to her side.

The indignation which had assailed him at the knowledge of her presence, vanished in a sudden overwhelming flood of tenderness.

"I must," she said, with difficulty, "tell my errand. We have traveled far, grandfather and I, that I might do so. I cannot marry you, Mr. Reynolds. That is what I came to say. You told me that you would come back again in the spring time to claim me. I promised that I would marry you then because I did not understand, because I loved you."

"I still love you, but I understand. Grandfather and I talked it all over. He explained to me about the grand life you live, and the women beautiful—wonderful, who are your friends, women like that one who brought me into this room tonight."

"My grandparents feared that you might grow ashamed of my untaught ways, and I, feeling your dissatisfaction, should grow unhappy. So it is best that I do not marry you, Mr. Stephen Reynolds. I came to tell you so and coming, find that my grandparents were right."

Bravely, Minna came to the man standing grave, repentantly grave, before her. But when she put out to him her honest little hand in farewell, Stephen, sinking to his knees, pressed his lips against it.

"Minna," he said in choking tones, "it is I—I—who am ashamed—before you."

Jane Reynolds and her mother glanced up anxiously as Stephen came back again to the assembled guests. Stephen beckoned, and the small figure in the neat, blue suit followed.

The wistful eyes of "Minna of the Hills" gazed out upon them all, then confident, her red lips smiled.

"Mother," cried Stephen Reynolds proudly, "friends, this is my little fiancée. Tomorrow we are to be married."

Peerless Parade Leader.

"I want to meet the marshal."

"There he is—Bill Twobble."

"Shucks! I've known Bill Twobble all my life. He's a fellow-townsmen. I'm talking about Foch."

"Oh, he's back in the line somewhere. My mistake. Bill's heading the show. He has on more gold braid than Foch and looks twice as important."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

BURNT INTO HIS MEMORY.

"What time did the clock say when you got home last night?"

"I don't remember what the clock said, but I'll never forget what my wife said."

Rather Thin.

All his life Jenks had been a gob, but finally when his age prevented him from being accepted for re-enlistment, he followed the example of many seafaring men and turned to farming. A couple of city men who were spending their vacations in the village got into conversation with him and turned to the difficulty of getting good milk.

"It's always been that way here," admitted Jenks. "When I docked in this town I bought a cow from Horace Miller and paid him fifty bucks for the blame thing. Horace said she'd give twenty quarts of milk a day and maybe she did—but you could always see bottom in six fathom."—American Legion Weekly.

Snappy Work.

Pete Wilkins had just entered the service and his young wife was the proudest woman in forty-eight states. She was boasting of his achievements to her brother.

"Isn't Tom wonderful?" she exclaimed. "He's already been promoted to field marshal!"

"From private to field marshal in two months!" ejaculated the brother. "Why, that's impossible! The thing can't be did!"

"Did I say field marshal?" murmured the girl. "Well, maybe it's court marshal. I know it's one or the other."—American Legion Weekly.

Mr. August Kempf returned Tuesday from San Antonio after a several days stay there with members of his family. Sunday they enjoyed a trip to Medina Lake. Mr. Kempf reports that the lake's water level now is about 20 feet below that of last fall, the river below the dam however, flows with the normal amount of water.
